Summary of Role and Responsibilities

Many postgraduate doctors will, at some point and for a variety of reasons, have a period of approved time out of training.

Time away from clinical practice may be associated with a 'skills fade' and returning to training may be a challenging process. For example, returners report concerns about their confidence and resilience, clinical confidence and opinions of their clinical colleagues. Support available for trainee returners is inconsistent and it is increasingly recognised that this may have a detrimental effect on the trainee returner and, potentially, on patient safety.

The junior doctors contract ACAS agreement brought into sharp focus the need to remove any disadvantage which may potentially be experienced by those who take a period of time away from training. Health Education England initiated the development of a programme of support for returners, consisting of a recurrently funded menu of options which reflects the diversity of this group. NHS E has continued this work.

The SuppoRTT Champion will be based in a secondary care organisation and will provide trainees from across London and their supervisors guidance regarding the relevant policies and available resources. They will promote the upskilling of educational supervisors to ensure the SuppoRTT process is reliably implemented. This individual will, through ongoing support and advocacy of those involved, maintain the change in workplace culture such that the SuppoRTT programme remains full integrated into the employment practices of departments.
